Absolute Equality

We are using public art and creativity as tools for community development, educational enrichment, and social health awareness while highlighting the cultural history and heritage of Juneteenth and the pursuit of Absolute Equality.

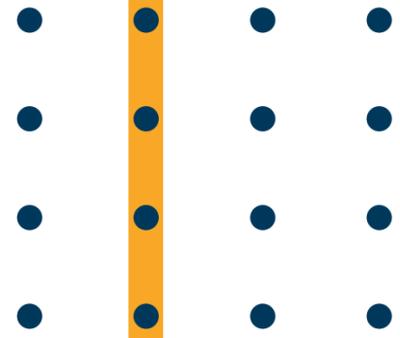

The Absolute Equality-Juneteenth Mural Project aims to recontextualize Juneteenth as a pivotal moment in the arc of U.S. history while properly telling the story of its genesis, and historical, and contemporary relevance.

History

Juneteenth commemorates the freedom of more than 250,000 enslaved Black people in the state of Texas. Juneteenth is now observed as a national holiday annually on June 19, celebrating the emancipation of those enslaved in the United States.

Juneteenth, also known as Freedom Day, commemorates the abolition of slavery in the United States. It is celebrated on June 19th, the day in 1865 when Major Gordon Granger and over 2000 Black Union soldiers arrived in Texas and announced that all enslaved Blacks in Texas were free. It is considered the oldest known celebration of the end of slavery in the United States.

Following the unveiling of the Absolute Equality-Juneteenth mural in Galveston, Texas, and the national recognition of Juneteenth as a holiday in June 2021, Reginald C. Adams conceived a nationwide initiative. Absolute Equality-Juneteenth Mural Project reimagines an approach to public art, monuments, and memorials, while shedding light on the historical significance of Juneteenth and promoting a more inclusive representation of our nation's diverse heritage.

Through the Absolute Equality-Juneteenth Mural Project, we bring to life the compelling narrative of emancipation and liberty, celebrating the vibrant tapestry that is Juneteenth, an influential and essential chapter of American history.

In 2022, we produced the Shreveport and Miami Absolute Equality murals.

In Miami's historic Overton community we produced a mural on the exterior wall of Jackson's Soul Food Restaurant.

Capital One Ambassadors, volunteers, and local community members came together to help, artist/designer Jason Jones, paint a mural that celebrates the diversity and resilience of the African American community along with the heritage of Juneteenth.

This was a great example of how we are putting the public in public art.

2023

In 2023, six captivating Absolute Equality-Juneteenth murals adorned the vibrant landscapes of Houston, Dallas, Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, and Miami—showcasing the rich cultural tapestry of these diverse metropolises.

Volunteers and dedicated community members collaborated with talented local muralists, creating stunning artworks that honor the enduring strength and heritage of the African American community and the significance of Juneteenth. This project exemplifies our commitment to involving the public in the creation of powerful and meaningful public art.

Host Sites

The host sites for the 2023 Absolute Equality-Juneteenth murals hold immense historical significance. Each location represents a pivotal chapter in the African American experience and the fight for freedom. From the African American History Research Center, located in Houston's historic Freedmen's Town, to Miami's Paul L. Dunbar K-8 Center located in the heart of Wynwood's artistic district, these sites embody the intersection of culture and history. Dallas, Detroit, Philadelphia, Shreveport, and Chicago's murals also symbolize their cities' deep connections to the Juneteenth narrative, while Galveston stands as the birthplace of Juneteenth itself.

Together, these murals form a powerful tapestry celebrating African American heritage and resilience, inviting the world to experience the rich legacy of Juneteenth.

Host Cities

The host cities selected for the proposed 2024 Absolute Equality-Juneteenth murals carry profound historical significance in the context of African American heritage and the struggle for freedom. New York City, as a hub of diversity and activism, has played a crucial role in the civil rights movement. Boston, with its rich abolitionist history, was pivotal in the fight against slavery. Washington DC, the nation's capital, represents the seat of power where critical decisions have shaped African American rights.

Indianapolis, Atlanta, and Baton Rouge each have deep connections to the African American experience, with important civil rights milestones and vibrant cultural contributions. Austin, Phoenix, Denver, Los Angeles, and Portland reflect the varied landscape of American cities, where Juneteenth's message of freedom resonates across diverse communities.

By bringing Absolute Equality murals to these cities, we aim to unite their historical significance with the empowering message of freedom and emancipation, immortalizing the legacy of African Americans in these iconic locations. Through public art, we celebrate their resilience, amplify their voices, and continue to educate and inspire future generations.

Artists & Visual Journalists

In the Absolute Equality-Juneteenth Mural Project, the nation's top artists are carefully selected and commissioned to bring their creative prowess and unique perspectives to each mural. These artists serve as visual journalists, using their exceptional talents to capture the essence of communities and their rich history through creative expression and storytelling. By skillfully incorporating public art as their medium, they become powerful advocates for change, giving voice to the voiceless and shedding light on critical social and political issues. Through their transformative artworks, they celebrate the resilience of African American communities and commemorate the significance of Juneteenth, fostering a deeper understanding and appreciation of our shared history and journey towards unity.

Activations & Engagement

Artist Meet & Greet

The Artist's Meet & Greet activation aims to showcase and uplift local artists and entrepreneurs, providing a platform to celebrate their creativity and contributions.

Website & A/R App

Highly interactive website and augmented reality applications will be developed for each local mural project.

Hands-On Engagements

Local youth, volunteers, and residents work alongside professional artists to assist in the co-creation of the murals.

Documentary Film & Media Content

Absolute Equality, a documentary film, will be a feature motion-picture intended to document the production of the murals, highlight community partners and depict the history of Juneteenth from a national perspective.

Benefits

The Absolute Equality-Juneteenth Mural Project yields multiple benefits, fostering economic growth, cultural literacy, and a strong sense of cultural identity through placemaking. The project draws inspiration from local stories, artists, and community leaders, resulting in site-specific murals that celebrate Juneteenth and promote the pursuit of Absolute Equality.

Economic Growth

Engaging in public art stimulates cultural awareness and ultimately leads to increased tourism, which benefits surrounding businesses and communities.

Cultural Literacy

Public art helps express a community's history and heritage and creates an elevated sense of awareness of the values of the community for residents and visitors.

Cultural Identity

Art represents life in many ways. When community members see themselves reflected in social spaces, they feel a sense of respect, ultimately allowing for people to identify with the place they are from, live in, or are visiting.

Placemaking

Art brings people together and creates a sense of place. Public art in civic spaces and making it accessible to everyone inspires engagement and a feeling of belonging to a community.

News & Media

The original Absolute Equality-Juneteenth mural installation in Galveston, Texas and partner cities have been featured across 200+ different media outlets, including 12 national publications, and recorded over a billion impressions.
